

Dr. Margaret McLane

---

Dr. Margaret McLane presently serves as Dean of the Thelma P. Lally School of Education at The College of Saint Rose. She holds the rank of associate professor of special education; she holds degrees from Mount St. Mary College, The College of Saint Rose and the State University of New York at Albany where she completed her Ph. D. in 1998. Dr. McLane is also an expert on issues relating to the assessment and accreditation of programs in education. Margaret is a frequent contributor at national conferences in her own specialization area of special education and on issues relating to the assessment and accreditation of education programs. As a founding member of two academic honor societies at the College, Kappa Delta Pi and Phi Delta Kappa, Margaret continues to support and oversee these groups within the School of Education. In addition to grant and consultation work, Dr. McLane is also a contributing author and extensively involved in certification program review.